

Stadsbader ready for the home race in Genk

Less than a week is left to the Kart Grand Prix of Belgium, 2nd act of the FIA Karting European Championship, which for Gilles Stadsbader will be the home race.

The Forza Racing driver is called to cancel the difficult epilogue of the first act of the FIA Karting European Championship, where he missed out on the chance to show his true abilities.

In Genk the discourse will be completely different, both for the feeling that Stadsbader has with the track and for the good results of the tests two weeks ago.

Gilles Stadsbader, Forza Racing (Exprit / TM): «The home race is always a special event. I know Genk very well and I hope I can do well in front of my audience. On this track this year I have already won in the BNL Kick Off; it's clear that the track with the passing of sessions has evolved and the adversaries are much more numerous than at that time, but my approach will always be the same, that is to always go on the attack without ever holding back.»

The weekend officially starts on Friday with Official Practice, followed by the Heats which start on Saturday and end on Sunday morning. Finally, on Sunday, the Finals.
