ART Grand Prix and Charles Leclerc conquered the WSK Euro Series championship in Zuera

The Zuera circuit in Spain hosted the last round of the 2012 WSK Euro Series. The Monegasque ART official driver Charles Leclerc cruised to an adamant victory in the KF2 class handing the ART Grand Prix Factory Team a spectacular win in the WSK Euro Series championship.

A dominant victory in the WSK as confirmed by the win in the final race of the Spanish week-end: this title is an handsome reward for Leclerc and the whole Team directed by Armando Filini, as they did an huge amount of work over the weekend despite the very hot weather conditions. The ART Grand Prix TS-01 chassis has confirmed to be a winning choice in every circuit, with any temperature and level of grip.

The WSK Euro Series win in the KF2 class represents for ART Grand Prix a prestigious result, reached only few months from its race debut last February. For Charles Leclerc, after having won the World Cup for KF3 in 2011 and been runner-up in the 2012 CIK-FIA European Championship, this result is a further confirmation. The Team's success was completed by the fourth place of Ben Barnicoat in the final race: Ben scored also the best time in the Super Pole on Saturday.
