second event of its world championship and CRG is well motivated and ready to achieve good results after a series of intensive tests and interesting technical developments, both in the chassis and in the engine.

Felice Tiene, together with Jordon Lennox-Lamb and his fellow countrywoman Laura Tillett are going to defend CRG-Maxter official team's colors: the three drivers are motivated and willing to show what they can do in this international competition, which from this year is reserved to young and emerging drivers.

This second event of the season is going to be particularly meaningful for CRG: all the team will be focused and well determined to achieve a good performance. The main goal remains to fill the gap in the ranking after the opening round in Germany.

Concurrently with the second event of the world championship, Zuera is also the venue of the single round KF2 and KF3 European championships final, which follows the qualifying events raced on last 1st May on the international PF circuit of Brandon – England – (for North-Eastern Europe) and on the Jean Brun circuit of

In KF3, Max Verstappen is definitely the favourite. The young Dutch star of CRG team has already shown his talent at international level after his outstanding last year's debut. The son of the former F1 champion Jos Verstappen this year needs to achieve the result which slipped off his hands in last season CIK-FIA championship, when he had to be content with a fifth position after being among the drivers fighting for the victory. Everybody expects that Verstappen can arrive at Zuera in peak physical form after his late muscular pains during last month WSK Euro Series of Muro Leccese.
In KF3, with CRG official team, also the Japanese Jinya Yamakawa is ready to race. He is a very interesting young driver who has the necessary qualities to stand out despite he is at his first international experiences. In KF2 the French Nicolas Gonzales is the official driver of the Italian team.
